Known as pysankies, the eggs are painted by applying the colours one layer at a time. The egg that Kulas is working on in the picture has been dyed completely yellow and she is applying bee's wax to the areas of the design that will remain yellow. When the next layer of colour is applied the dye won't stick to the wax and the yellow will show through in the selected areas.

After all the colours have been added, Kulas removes the wax and varnishes the finished product. Each design on the egg represents a religious symbol. The continuous lines painted around the middle of the egg are symbolic of everlasting life.

Kulas, and her husband Bill, celebrate Easter in the traditional Ukrainian tradition which involves a large Easter dinner shared among friends and relatives. Kulas says the hand-painted eggs are presented to the guests when they leave. Dark coloured eggs go to the older guests and young guests are presented with lighter coloured eggs.

The eggs are not cooked before they are coloured and Kulas says the yolk represents Jesus laid to rest in the tomb.

County taxes up 7.4%

Spending will hit $1.9-million this year

Haliburton County Council's 7.4 per cent tax hike isn't a hard pill to swallow, Management Committee Chairman Murray Fearry said last Wednesday while introducing the 1989 budget.

"It's more than the rate of inflation, but I think it's not unreasonable," Fearry said of the tax increase that will be combined with the education and municipal levies to give the overall tax bill.

To reach the final budget almost every department request had to be trimmed, Fearry said. Initially, the 1989 budget translated into a 22 per cent increase, Fearry said, "but we couldn't ask taxpayers to face that." He said his committee did the best it could to hold the line without stifling the projects the county has initiated.

The county budget is the first of three that make up the overall tax bill. The Haliburton County Board of Education hopes to have its budget finalized by late April. The individual municipalities don't normally complete their budgets until they know what to expect from the board of education.

The county has budgeted to spend $1,895,801 this year, which is an 8.5 per cent increase over the 1988 budget. Income from other sources than taxation is also up slightly, which tempers the final blow to taxpayers.

ENVIRONMENT: The Environmental Services budget will increase substantially this year because of the anticipated cost of the Waste Management Masterplan. The county is setting aside $26,000 for the masterplan in addition to the $1,000 budget for the Water Levels, Acid Rain and Forestry department.

Last year, $2,000 had been set aside for use for environmental services. Only $645 of that was actually used.

HEALTH: The county's contribution to the District Health Council will rise to $87,626 this year, and increase of almost $8,000. The overall budget for health services is down considerably, though, because no funds are being set aside for the continuing care hospital.

Cattlemen urged to make their mark in the 'beef vote'

Beef producers in Haliburton County are being urged to get all the information about the upcoming 'beef vote' and take the time to understand the consequences of this referendum.

"If you have cattle in this county, take the time to find out a little more," says Godfrey Tyler, Haliburton's representative on the Ontario Cattlemen's Association. The outcome of this vote will affect all beef producers, even those who are raising only a few head of cattle each year, says Tyler.

Ontario's beef producers are being asked whether or not they are in favour of a proposed marketing commission to regulate the sales of all beef cattle in the province. Ballots are being mailed out to everyone who had as few as four head of cattle for at least 35 days in 1987 or 1988.

Carm Hamilton, the Ministry of Agriculture and Food's agricultural representative for Victoria and Haliburton Counties, says the marketing of beef has always been a topic of concern. One of the recommendations from a report released one year ago by the beef marketing task force was for a referendum to see if there is enough interest among beef producers to create some sort of marketing association, he said.

Ballots are now out in the mail, and beef producers are being asked if they are in favour of "the proposed producer-controlled marketing commission which would regulate the sale of all beef cattle in

Indispensible Advice
Sometimes when you're feeling important, Sometimes when you ego's in bloom, Sometimes when you take it for granted You're the best qualified one in the room.

Sometimes when you feel that your going Would leave an unfillable hole, Just follow this simple instruction And see how it humbles your soul.

Take a bucket and fill it with water Put your hand in it up to the wrist Pull it out and the hole that's remaining Is a measure of how you'll be missed. The moral of this quaint example (As quoted by Poets Anon) Be proud of yourself, but remember There is no Indispensible One!

Some birthdays are Mildred Hoyle, 17th, Earl Hewitt, 25th, Audrey Vick, 26th, and at Hyland Crest Catherine Teasdale, 25th and Verna Jarvis on the 28th and also Mary Windover was on March 15th with good wishes to all.

March certainly came in like a lion here and then Tuesday night was there surely a "Banger" thunderstorm and very heavy rain making much run-off. It is that time of year to especially watch youngsters as they will try those ditches and puddles. With March Break on here last week, at least it wasn't muddy. Then next weekend is Easter time and very early.

Coming events are Museum Committee meeting at Common Room March 22nd at 10 a.m. A very interesting display is on at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, don't miss it. A fine display of cartoons, drawings and photography and Anker Odum, cartoonist, will be there on Thursday, May 23 at 1. I Have Noticed Everything is farther away than it used to be. It is even twice as far to the corner and they have added a hill.

I have given up running for the bus; it leaves earlier than it used to.

It seems to me they are making the stairs steeper than in the old days.

And have you noticed the smaller print they use in the newspapers? There is no sense in asking anyone to read aloud anymore, as everybody speaks in such a low voice I can hardly hear them.

The material in dresses is so skimpy now, especially around the hips and waist, that it is almost impossible to reach one's shoelaces. And the sizes don't run the way they used to. The 12's and 14's are so much smaller.

Even people are changing. They are so much younger than they used to be when I was their age. On the other hand, people my age are so much older than I am.

I ran into an old classmate the other day and she has aged so much that she didn't recognize me.

I got to thinking about the poor dear while I was combing my hair this morning and in so doing I glanced at my own reflection. Really now, they don't even make good mirrors like they used to.

Pension dispute may prompt teachers' strike

By Jay Kerr-Wilson

Unless there is movement in discussions between Ontario's teachers and the provincial government, schools in Haliburton and the rest of Ontario could be hit with a strike.

The teachers are upset at the government's plan to pass legislation that would require them to increase their contribution to the pension fund by one per cent to 8.9 per cent. "We object to the government making a unilateral decision," says David Ellsworth, a spokesman for the Ontario Teacher's Federation. "We don't like having a solution imposed on us."

The dispute is not over the pension fund itself, but a second fund which was established in 1975 to protect the teachers' benefits from inflation, according to Jacqueline Boyle, executive assistant to Ontario Treasurer Bob Nixon.

Boyle says the fund is in trouble because there has been an increase in the number of people collecting pensions and a decrease in the number of teachers making contributions to the fund. If nothing is done to remedy the situation, Boyle says the indexation fund will be exhausted by the year 2007. She says the government is planning to introduce the necessary legislation this year because the government and the teachers failed to reach an agreement through negotiations.

The government matches the teachers' contributions to the pensions fund and Boyle says they will not only match the one per cent increase requested of the teachers but will underwrite the $3 billion deficit the fund has acquired.

The government also wants to combine the benefits fund with the indexation fund to create one large, economically-self-sufficient pension plan.

But Ellsworth accuses the government of mixing apples and oranges when discussing the two plans. He admits that the indexation fund is in financial trouble but says there is enough of a surplus in the benefit plan so that when the two plans are combined the contribution increase will not be necessary. "With the projected earnings of the plan there shouldn't be any problems."

The money in the pension plans is invested and earn interest. Under the present agreement, the provincial government is required to borrow the full amount of the funds and pay the teachers a market value interest rate. The return on the investment is put back in the plan to cover the deficit. Ellsworth says the government has laid claim to any surplus the investment of the fund may generate in the future and the teachers' federation believes the teachers should have a say in the management of the money.

But Boyle says the fund won't be in a surplus position for many years, even with the proposed increase in contributions. She says if a surplus is realized in the future, the utilization of the money is subject to negotiations. "That's when we can start talking about increasing the benefit package," she says. The government has offered to enter into a partnership with the teachers to manage the

Back in action

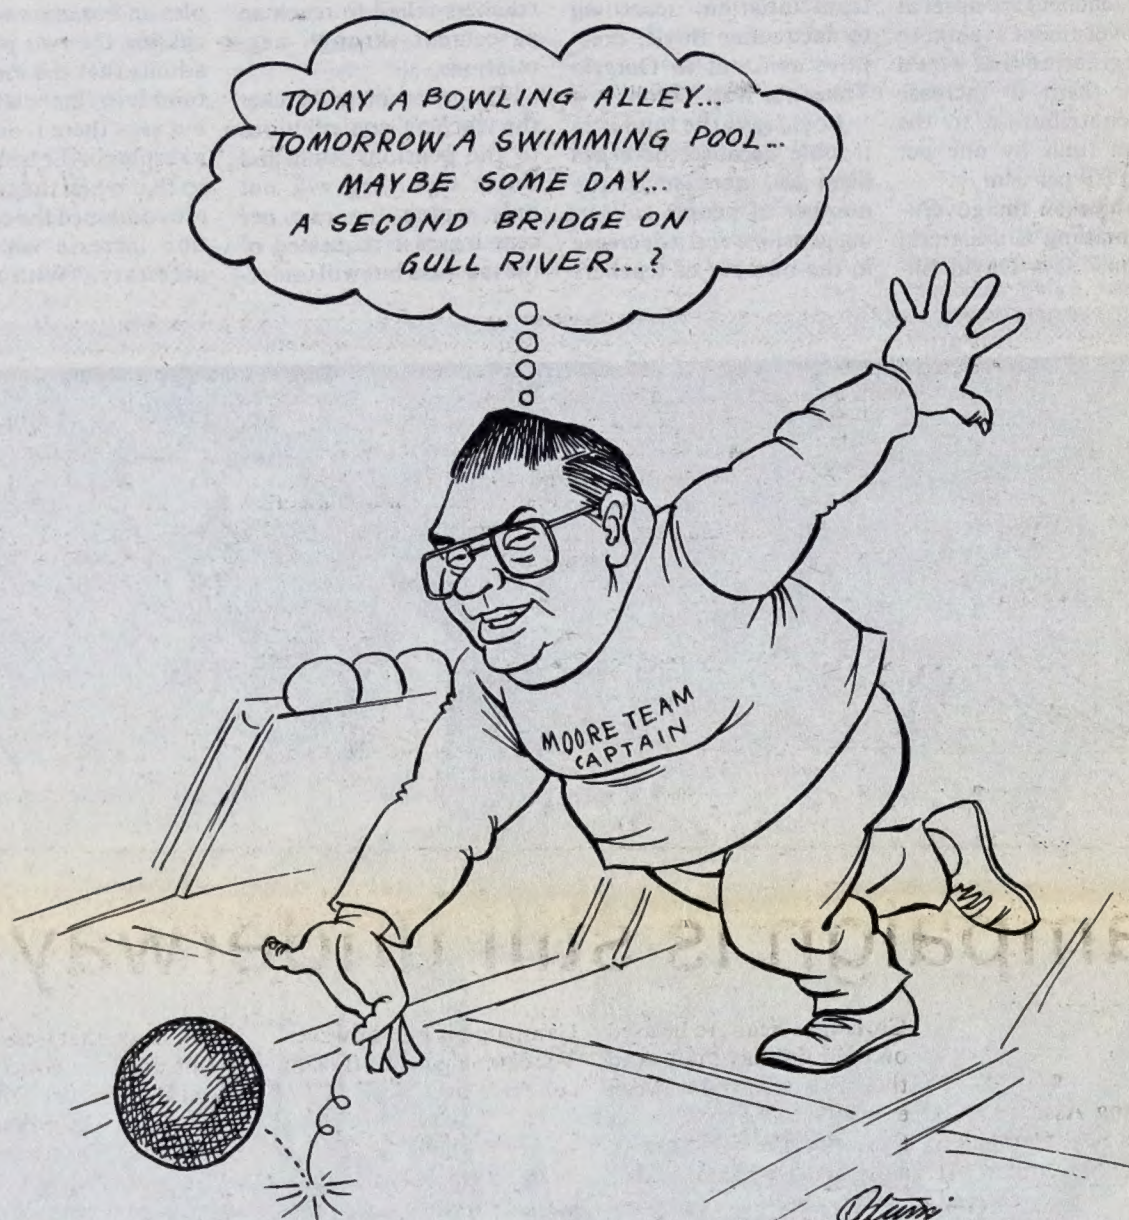

There's bunny rabbits hopping around downtown. There's talk of giving street numbers to all the properties in the village. There's even some consideration being given to the staging of a Santa Claus parade next winter in addition to several other activities. All of these are indications that Minden's Business Improvement Area (BIA) is again becoming an active organization.

For more than a year now the BIA has been coasting. The traditional promotions went on, but with nobody introducing new ideas or approaches, they were only marginally successful. The future of the BIA was looking awfully bleak.

However, with Minden's Chief Building Official Brad Bradamore helping to breathe fresh life into the BIA, the future of this organization is again looking bright. He has taken the initiative to arrange for regular meetings and his efforts are beginning to pay off.

Especially in small centres like Minden, a BIA can play an important part in creating and maintaining an attractive and active downtown core. This recent revival of Minden's BIA is encouraging to see.

Having the Easter Bunny pay a visit to town may seem like a small thing, but it is a sign of renewed interest in self promotion among the downtown merchants.

Latin's obituary was a little bit early

You can consider this column an ummm...apologia, I suppose.

That's because a few weeks ago I was nattering away about something or other in this space and mentioned in passing that Latin was "after all, a dead language".

The obituary was premature.

Since then I have learned about the work of Abbot Carlo Egger and Lamberto Pigni. Abbot Egger lives and works in the Vatican while Signor Pigni tolls in a tiny office in the Adriatic city of Recanati, but they share a common goal: to keep the classical language of Latin alive and breathing.

Even more than last - they're doing their level best to Latinize the twentieth century.

Abbot Egger heads up the Vatican's Latinitas Foundation. One of the chores he performs in that capacity is to read the newspapers and render current events into the language of Cicero.

I mean, really current events. Remember the War in the Falklands? When Abbot Egger writes about that, it's 'Bellum in Insulis Falclandicis.' You thought Ben Johnson got tripped up by steroids? Nope, it was 'usus agonisticus medicamenti stupefactivi'.

Abbot Egger can get downright contemporary black 'n white

by Arthur Black

when he works at it. He's figured out what Nero would have said if he wanted to wager a few sesterces on his favourite horse in the third race at The Coliseum Racetrack. He'd have summoned his 'relator pignore certantium'.

That's Latin for 'bookie'.

It's fascinating to speculate on just what Nero or any other ancient Roman would make of Abbot Egger's news roundups. What would they think of the twentieth century fashion craze for 'bracae lintaeae caeruleae' - which is to say 'blue jeans'? How could they possibly comprehend 'autocinetum pryobolo dolose instructum' - car bomb? And you can only wonder how they would ever get a handle on 'capacissima aeronavis Coreae Meridianae missilibus percussa ac praecepta deiecta' - which is what Abbot Egger types into his word processor when he's describing the Soviet downing of that South Korean airliner.

At least that's what he types when his word processor hasn't been neutered by a 'fluoris electrici abruptio' - a power blackout.

But it doesn't really matter how Ancient Romans would react to the Abbot's work because he's not doing it for them. He's doing it for us. Abbot Egger is trying to convince you and I that not only is Latin not dead, it's alive and more than capable of handling anything the twentieth century can throw at it.

That's why he's publishing the first volume of his Italian-Latin lexicon next month. "It is proof" says Abbot Egger "that Latin can be used even today to discuss everything."

Lamberto Pigni agrees. He's hard at work describing twentieth century experience in Latin terms as well ... although in a slightly different context.

Signor Pigni has already turned out several tomes. Let's see now, there's Snupius, and Carolus Brunus and of course Michael Musculus.

Or as we know them, Snoopy, Charlie Brown and Mickey Mouse.

Lamberto Pigni publishes comic strips in Latin. "We do this to make the language loved" says Pigni simply.

Campaign is still underway

Editor:

The Lung Association's Christmas Seal Campaign began last November. At that time, people received their annual supply of Christmas Seals, to be used on their holiday mail. And they also received a green envelope to be returned to the Lung Association with a donation for their seals.

Christmas is now long past - the Christmas Seal

Campaign is not, however. The campaign will officially conclude on March 31.

The Lung Association wishes to thank those who made a donation to this annual appeal for funds. The goal for Victoria and Haliburton Counties was $32,000, a goal that has been surpassed. Thanks to the generosity of over 2,600 households in Victoria and Haliburton Counties, returns have reached nearly $34,500.

This is a rewarding and visible sign that residents in this area are concerned about Respiratory Disease - Asthma, Emphysema, Bronchitis, etc. and about the harmful effects of smoking and other air pollution.

Thank you Victoria and Haliburton Counties. And remember, if you didn't return your green envelope or lost it, it is not too late - let's make it to $35,000 by March 31.

Executive Director.

MNR's comments upset Reeve

By Jay Kerr-Wilson

The suggestion that the County may have paid unwarranted wolf bounties has upset the Reeve of Dysart et al Townships.

Murray Fearrey reacted strongly to a comment made by Ministry of Natural Resources Wildlife Supervisor Stan Flemming in last week's issue of The Times. In a story about the ban on wolf bounties Flemming said he suspected that bounties may have been paid on wolves brought in from outside Haliburton County.

"Flemming should either back up what he's said or apologize," says Fearrey. He says Flemming's comments insinuate that local bounty officers are not doing their jobs. If Flemming has any information regarding improper payment of bounties, Fearrey says he should tell the County so an attempt to recover the money can be made.

Fearrey admitted that the County had discussed the problem of wolves being brought in from neighbouring counties when the bounty was raised from $25 to $50 but said this was the sort of problem that bounty officers watch for. He called Flemming's comments "a kick in the face."

Flemming's comments were made in reference to the disparity between the number of bounties paid

Editor:

I would like to respond to the editorial in the February 27 paper. As a ratepayer of the township that lives beyond the White Water course I would like to challenge the editor to drive through the parking mess on a weekend of a World Cup race to go somewhere other than the race. In addition to this the competitors walk beside the parked cars with kayaks on their shoulders making the situation still more dangerous. With this in mind I would question how an emergency vehicle would reach my home or any home for that matter beyond the park. If the editor feels it's badgering for Mr. Berry to ask if there has been any arrangements made for parking then I suggest he volunteer as a parking attendant to witness the parking problem.

Also the commotion of the Highland Games as the editor refers, I wonder if the lesson learned is that our township's monetary offer was not sufficient to sway the games or maybe the committee to our township. One reads in your paper where committee members resign over the way the decision was handled. Should the Chamber of Commerce not share some of the blame for the games being lost to the highest bidder? I would therefore ask if our township could afford to support the games at our (the taxpayer's) expense?

I would like to commend Mr. Berry and some members of council for being concerned about my tax dollars. I personally don't feel that is being negative as the editor has accused.

Well, some folks love Latin I guess, though I've met a lot more who loathed it - particularly high school students at the 'sum, esse, phooey' stage of mastering the tongue. But love it or hate it, the one thing you can't do with Latin is ignore it. It's everywhere.

Suppose you journeyed by bus from Regina to Philadelphia via London, to enjoy a duo of minor celebrities with major egos debate the pros and cons of civic propaganda versus media innuendo in an arena, stadium, or auditorium at 7 a.m. on a Saturday in August.

There are 47 words in that sentence. Twenty-one of them are pure Latin; almost all the others come from Latin roots.

Latin dead? That's some display of (ahem) rigor mortis.

From Misti to Minden

Misti Campbell is a Minden High School student who is spending a year in Japan with the Rotary International youth exchange program. Her participation is sponsored by the Rotary Club of Minden. Misti has agreed to share her experiences with our readers with reports on her activities and observations. This latest report, written at the end of February, was written following the burial of Japanese Emperor Hirohito. (Misti's address is included at the end of her letter for those who may wish to drop her a line.

Hello, how are you all doing? I'm doing fine thanks. Here in Japan, the trees have started to blossom already and the temples, shrines and old castles are particularly beautiful with yellow, white and pink flowers. These trees are not cherry blossoms, but "ume", plum trees. The scent is even sweet smelling. Along with my second host family and Rotary club, I went to Kyoto to a temple where the ume trees were particularly beautiful because there were so many of them lining the walkways and spread throughout the gardens. Although it was raining fairly hard it didn't stop the people from coming. There has been a lot of rain lately, which I found out is not normal for this time of year. The temperature ranges from, on a cloudy, rainy day, 5 degrees C to a sunny day, 15 degrees C average. I have a feeling the summer will be quite warm here if the fine days are any indication! As you all probably know, the Emperor died due to cancer of the stomach on January 7, on February 24, he was buried at Shinjuk-

'I was shocked to see the way the Japanese reacted to the death of their emperor,' Misti Campbell observed. She is in Japan on a Rotary Exchange ugyon in Tokyo. The people in Osaka prefecture were unnoticeably upset by the news, allowed one day of mourning and went back to their usual schedule, except for some of the government workers who in certain departments had to change any item with the dead Emperor's name on it to the new Emperor's name. I was really shocked to see the way Japanese reacted to the death of their Emperor. The elder people who were loyal to the dead Emperor spent hours at the temples on their knees mumbling special words with a few tears shed while the younger generation, talk and debate over whether or not the last Emperor caused W.W.II and the prospects of the new Emperor. Their general reaction in the area where I live was almost nonchalant. For me, holidays have begun, but for the others, tests finish March 8, so they have to wait a week. Spring holidays are finished April 8 but, as usual, clubs still go on. March 18 I will be travelling by bullet train to Tokyo with my Judo teacher and two friends, Yoshi and Norika to watch Norika compete in an international Judo game. I'll let you know how that goes when I get back. But for now I'll stop - I hope everybody at home has a great March Break! Talk to ya later!!

Teachers may strike if provincial government goes ahead with pension contributions legislation funds but the offer has been turned down.

Ellsworth says asking the teachers to take over management of the $14 billion fund is akin to a corporate merger and the government has yet to satisfy the conditions necessary to make the merger possible. "We are looking for a negotiated solution and an acceptable relationship, then we can work on the details of any partnership," Ellsworth says the place to resolve the conflict is around the bargaining table and not on the floor of the Ontario legislature. The OTF is planning an April 1, rally in Hamilton to coincide with a Liberal convention in that city.

Sid Cooper, a teacher at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School is the local president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation. He says the government has received over 50,000 letters from teachers across the province supporting opposition to the contribution increase. The government has resumed discussions, according to Cooper, but so far there has been little progress. The OSSTF has been one of the most vocal groups in the dispute with the province and along with the English Catholic Teachers' Association first supported strike action.

Cooper says the other teachers' associations that were not reacting so strongly at first have begun to think twice after Premier David Peterson's reaction to the dispute. Addressing a rally in Peterborough two weeks ago, Peterson said the teachers didn't understand the situation and were, "being silly."

The 42 secondary school teachers in Haliburton support the federation's stand, according to Cooper and the possibility of a walk-out is still alive.

The proposed one per cent increase will cost each teacher an average of $500 per year.

Most of the cattle production in the Highlands is on a very small scale. However, there are a few large herds in the area.

Ontario's beef vote will affect even small-scale cattle producers

Ontario." A second question asks if they are in favour of the commission working towards a national beef cattle marketing plan.

Almost all of the beef production in Haliburton is on a very small scale, says Tyler. "Most are doing it as a hobby and they feel that what happens in the main stream can't affect us." That's not the case, though, he insists. A yes vote on this referendum "will change how we do business." He says it could mean that even the small-scale producers will have to sell their cattle through the marketing commission.

The referendum puts the Ontario Cattlemen's Association in direct opposition to a newly-formed group that calls itself the Beef Producers for Change. "Supply management is the difference between the OCA and Change," says Tyler. The OCA favours the present system where the individual producers have the choice of marketing and the OCA is their official voice.

The Change organization, on the other hand, is urging cattlemen to vote yes on this referendum. If the majority vote for a beef marketing commission, the OCA will be dismantled. The 49-member elected board of directors would be replaced by 13 zone directors and five appointed representatives of related fields, such as auction markets, truckers, packers, retailers and consumers.

Ross Warburton, who is one of the larger beef producers in Haliburton County, says there is room for improvement to the present marketing system. However, he is against the "drastic" measures being proposed. "The government says change our way or not at all. That's the part of it that bothers me. I'd like to see some changes but not wholesale change."

"If we vote yes, we lose the Ontario Cattlemen's Association. It's lost. It will be dismantled," says Warburton. Instead of having a county representative, beef producers in Haliburton would be lumped together with Peterborough, Victoria and Durham Counties in sharing one director. Warburton says there would be less confusion with fewer directors but there would also be less feedback to the producers.

Warburton's biggest fear is that the beef marketing commission would turn into a marketing board similar to the Milk Marketing Board. Beef is not as unique a product as milk, and Warburton is afraid that forced price hikes for beef would have people buying other meats.

The other thing that bothers Warburton about this vote is that it gives hobby farmers and dairy farmers the same voice in this as serious beef producers. He feels that only bonafide beef farmers should have a say in this referendum.

With such a high level of interest in this vote, it is beginning to look like a beef marketing war. Nowhere is this more evident than in neighbouring Victoria County, where the local cattlemen's association dismissed its president because he joined Beef Producers for Change.

Because beef production in Haliburton is mainly on a small scale, the level of attention to the vote is bound to be lower. However, the local OCA representative is doing his best to make sure it doesn't go unnoticed.

"This is one issue where if you don't stand up for what you think, it might just happen anyway," Tyler is telling Haliburton's cattlemen. "If you have cattle in this county, take the time to find out a little more." He invites anyone to give him a phone call.

The OCA is waging a battle of its own to strike this vote down. OCA president Jim Magee says the livelihood of beef producers is at stake in this vote. But there are also other groups that also have a stake in this. "Other groups are becoming concerned about the proposed Commission too," he says. "Consumers are wondering what it will do to beef prices. Small abattoirs see that it's going to slash their business."

"We need changes in the beef industry," Magee agrees. "But these definitely are not the changes our members want. At the grassroots level they see that the system adds lots of government control and cost without adding any real benefit."

Haliburton's beef producers will have an opportunity to find out more about the referendum during the annual meeting of the Haliburton County Farmers Association on April 2. This meeting will be held at Tom Dawson's new maple sugaring operation on County Road 1 near Gelert. Hamilton and Tyler will be at the meeting to answer questions and ballots will be available for those who did not receive theirs.

Another information meeting is set for April 6 at 8 p.m. in the Lindsay Agricultural Office's conference centre.

Local stores lose because of embargo

By Jay Kerr-Wilson

The discovery of two poisoned grapes in Philadelphia is going to end up costing some Haliburton businesses hundreds of dollars.

The Canadian Government had issued an embargo on Chilean fruits and vegetables following a threat by Chilean leftist guerillas that produce imported from Chile would be poisoned.

So far the only tampered fruits discovered were the two grapes, each of which contained small amounts of cyanide.

Peter Dollo, manager of the Minden IGA, says he had to remove $400 worth of produce from his shelves after Health and Welfare Canada ordered a ban on the sale of Chilean fruits. Dollo says his store had to stop selling Chilean grapes, Granny Smith apples, nectarines, peaches, plums and Bartlett pears.

The government has ordered the disposal of all Chilean fruit being store in Canada.

Haver Cook, of Cook's Variety Store in Haliburton, said he had to pull about one third of his stock from the shelves as a result of the ban. The produce is worth between $250 and $300 in Cook's estimation. Cook was storing the produce and on Thursday he said he hoped the embargo would be lifted in time to get the fruit back on his shelves. He said if the ban lasted the weekend he would not be able to sell the produce.

On Friday night the federal government lifted the embargo on incoming Chilean produce but also ordered that all banned fruit already in the country had to be destroyed and not sold. Health Minister Perin Beatty said the government would not compensate merchants for the lost produce. The Canadian Government said it will continue to keep a close watch on produce imported from Chile.

Local Health Units were given the task of inspecting stores to ensure that all Chilean produce was off the shelves. Ron Chartrand from the district office in Lindsay said his office was contacted on Wednesday morning and told to check local stores. The Health Unit has received numerous inquiries from people uncertain about the safety of fruit purchased before the embargo. Chartrand says anything bought prior to the first week of March should be safe. Any Chilean fruit bought after March 10 should be disposed of.

So, even though Chilean fruit and vegetables should be back on store shelves within the next two weeks, store owners like Dollo and Cook will have to bear the cost of Beatty's caution. And with the American embassy in Chile receiving another threat of further poisoning, the danger is not yet passed.

Monarchs edge Fenelon in best of three series

Next the Monarchs will meet up with Haliburton

Minden Monarchs Novice 'C' are into playoffs now. After emerging in first place in their regular schedule, they saw no hockey for three weeks while sitting out on a bye.

March 10 we travelled to Fenelon for the first game in the best 2 out of 3. This was a tight game with not much scoring but a lot of defensive action on Minden's part as the three-week rest was evident.

Scoring opened at the 3:40 mark of the first period with Fenelon's Shawn Bereznicki lighting the board. With 1:33 left in the first Minden cheaply retaliated when Chuck Hopkins took a pass from Cameron Neville and shot at the net, only to have a Fenelon player intercept and guarantee the puck a shot in his own net.

That was the end of scoring for the game but many other opportunities were very efficiently diverted by both teams. Minden's Shane Flood made a beautiful glove save on one long shot along with several other defensive saves by Clay Davis, Steve Ecclestone, Chris Little and Wayne Kernohan. Final score 1 - 1. This assured the boys three games against Fenelon.

Game 2

With Minden having home ice advantage, Fenelon arrived Saturday, February 11 to meet a 4 p.m. faceoff. The boys were geared up today and ready to do battle.

This game held considerably more action as well as scoring. Nine seconds into the game B.J. Redner, assisted by Gavin Gartshore found the spot and lit the board. Fenelon retaliated full strength for the next three goals, giving them a 3 - 1 lead in the first. To close the period Gartshore did some fast moving and, assisted by Hopkins, narrowed Fenelon's lead 3 - 2.

The second period belonged to Minden with Gartshore, again assisted by Hopkins, putting Minden's third goal home to tie them at three. Neville came on unassisted for the tie breaker only to have Fenelon retaliate to close the period tied again at four.

The third period was anybody's game as both teams played strong and determined to claim a win. With 4:28 left in the game and the score tied at four Minden took a penalty and the pressure was on. With Minden one man short, Clay Davis passed to Hopkins and with a shot, placed it home to claim the game for Minden. Final score 5 - 4.

Game 3

With a tie and a win to Minden's credit Fenelon arrived again for the third game Tuesday night at 7 p.m. There is not too much to be said about that game. Minden emerged on the ice with two lines dressed to play and Fenelon arrived with six team members including goalie, ready to play. Fenelon played a very

Between Haliburton & Minden
457-1800

The Minden Novice C Monarchs finished off Fenelon Falls last week in a very tense series. This strong club is now ready to take on Haliburton in the next round of play.

Fenelon's tough when shorthanded

strong and determined game with a final score 4 - 0 Fenelon.

They have always played strong when shorthanded usually had one spare player. Tuesday's game showed hard playing on their part, good listening to coaches and excellent positional hockey.

As a result, we travelled back to Fenelon Wednesday night for the tie breaker. After Tuesday night's game and much conversation later to the team, from several concerned parents and coaches, the Minden team stepped onto the ice at 6:30 p.m. with a little different attitude.

It was a complete turn around of the previous night. They displayed some beautiful forward as well as defensive moves, starting the game on a strong note, and never letting up. All the boys are to be complimented for their efforts and hopefully they will play as strong when they meet Haliburton next.

The first two periods remained scoreless with lots of activity from both sides. Not until the 6:46 mark of the third did B.J. Redner find the mark and score the required goal. Final score 1 - 0.

Fenelon has proven throughout the schedule to be a strong adversary and as shown by the scores of these games have narrowed the gaps on the scoreboard considerably. They have been a good team to play against and either in Fenelon or Minden both teams have been welcomed.

Budget stores no funds for hospital expansion

Last year the county contributed $133,200 to the proposed 18-bed expansion of the Haliburton Hospital and more may still be requested. However, because the whole project is now in a sort of limbo as far as Ministry of Health funding is concerned, the county could not budget anything for the project this year.

GENERAL GOVERNMENT: The cost of running the county office will increase by almost $58,000 or 25 per cent. This increase is largely created by the need for capital work at the county building and at Hyland Crest. Another part of this increase is due to a doubling of the provision for working funds and still more is the result of an increase in the fees paid to council members.

Fearry said major renovations will be needed at Hyland Crest in the next several years. He said the county building needs some upgrading and they should be looking into the possibility of an addition. $30,000 is being set aside in a capital fund for this year.

With several important issues on the front burner this year, the number of committee meetings is expected to increase considerably. Combine this with the recent increase in remuneration to councillors, and the budget for fees and mileage paid to council members increases by 39 per cent.

At the February meeting, councillors' fees for meetings were increased to $100 per council meeting and $50 per committee meeting. With the Waste Management Masterplan and an Economic Development Study soon expected to get off the ground, the number of committee meetings will also increase. Further adding to the expected increase in committee fees is a recent bylaw that encourages members to attend all the committee meetings.

PROTECTION: Because of the eventual elimination of the county's wolf bounty, there will be a savings in the department for Protection to Persons and Property.

A doubling of the wolf bounty last year caused the budget for this department to be exceeded by almost 100 per cent. This year, though, with the bounty being outlawed by the provincial government, only $2,000 is being budgeted for this purpose. The overall budget for protection services this year is $4,000 with includes $2,000 for mutual fire aid.

The budget for this department last year was $4,250, but with $6,650 paid out in wolf bounties the actual spending came to $8,150.

SOCIAL SERVICES: The budget for the social and family services department, which covers Hyland Crest and Social Services, is increasing by almost $96,000 or 21 per cent this year.

Fearry said the county can no longer delay taking action on a Fire Marshal's recommendations for Hyland Crest. For example, he said the washers and dryers at the home will have to be replaced this year and there is also a need for roof repairs. He added that this may be the last year that matching funds will be available from the ministry for these sorts of projects.

The budget for Hyland Crest is increasing to $290,000, up from the $225,000 last year.

In spite of an optimistic employment outlook for the coming year, the budget for county social services is also being increased this year, Fearry said. The budget allows for $204,710 for social services in 1989.

On top of these increases, the Children's Aid Society is calling for an $8,000 fee increase that brings the total cost to the county for this service up to $60,000.

CULTURE AND RECREATION: The overall budget for this department is down only slightly, but the size of the allotments to the individual organizations is changing some.

The county's contribution to the Hali-burton County Fair is being cut in half because Fearry says it is difficult to assess the impact of this event on the county as a whole. He said the committee agreed to extend token funding of $500 this year, but it will be at this in terms of establishing a policy of some sort for next year.

Admitting that it will not go far, Fearry noted that $10,000 has been set aside for capital work for the railway corridor. He said the future uses of this property are still being considered. He added that he is hoping for some provincial funding once it has been established what will be done with the property.

INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE: An economic development study for the county will soon be underway in the county. For this, $15,000 has been set aside.

The contribution to the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce is set at $70,000 for this year. In past years, the chamber budget was locked in for a three-year period, but this is not the case for 1989.

The chamber was originally asking for $78,632 this year. Of this, $67,632 was targeted for administration. Another $11,000 was targeted for marketing, which includes promotional shows, publications, some advertising, and a contribution to the Highland Games.

Victoria-Haliburton MPP has busy session

Victoria Haliburton MPP John Eakins recently concluded a busy legislature session at Queen's Park, passing a record six bills in one day.

Eakins, in his role as minister of Municipal Affairs saw the six bills pass on February 23.

The first session of the 34th Parliament of Ontario began in the fall of 1987 and ended on March the second.

The bills passed on February 23 included: Bill 169, an amendment to the District of Muskoka Act; Bill 197, an amendment to the Region of Sudbury Act; Bill 128, an amendment to the Region of Sudbury Act;

The bills passed on February 23 included: Bill 169, an amendment to the District of Muskoka Act; Bill 197, an amendment to the Region of Sudbury Act; Bill 128, which streamlined the approval process under the Planning Act; Bill 134, which repeals obsolete legislation; Bill 135, which makes amendments to the Road Access Act; and Bill 192, which amends the Municipal Act.

Earlier in the session, Eakins passed a number of other important bills which reformed Ontario's Municipal enumeration and election process, as well as a bill which introduced direct election to Metropolitan Toronto Council. A total of 13 Ministry of Municipal Affairs bills were passed in the first session of the 34th Parliament.

"My priority during the session was to put in place a number of much-needed reforms to Ontario's system of municipal government," Eakins said.

"The 13 ministry bills passed represent significant progress on that agenda of reform."

The work, however, doesn't stop for the MPP. He continues to be busy helping others in Victoria and Haliburton Counties, and his role as minister will keep his calendar full until the next sitting, which is scheduled for late April.

"Some people think that when the House duties end, holidays commence. That just isn't the case, because the routine workload and planning for the new session begins," Eakins said.

Ravens and Gray Jays now nesting

Although Algonquin Park is just awakening from winter's icy grip, two of its permanent residents are actually starting to nest. During the past few weeks, Ravens have been refurbishing their large stick nests located on cliff faces or large conifers, and Gray Jay pairs have been constructing entirely new nests in thickly foliated spruce or balsam. Most individuals of both species should have eggs in their nests by now.

This is remarkably early because, even by the time the egg hatches in April, the park will still be covered in snow, the lakes frozen and there is no obvious food available for helpless baby birds and their tremendous appetites. Starvation of nestlings is almost unknown in either species, however, and young Ravens and Gray Jays usually leave their nests in May before most other Algonquin breeding birds have even returned from the south, let alone started to nest themselves.

Not surprisingly, Ravens and Gray Jays both construct exceptionally well insulated nests and the females rarely leave the hatchlings uncovered until they are more than a week old and well feathered enough to withstand more than a few minutes exposure to below freezing temperatures. Nevertheless, the question still remains as to why they nest in such an unpromising season when, by waiting two or three months, they could easily avoid the cold and lack of food. After all, every creature should choose to reproduce at the time of year when conditions are most favourable for successfully raising young, but with these two species, conditions in their nesting

At a recent "Project Wild" upgrading course at the Frost Centre north of Minden, Archie Stouffer Elementary School teacher Penny Obee served as one of the instructors. She moved the students, in this case fellow teachers, outdoors to demonstrate how the human presence has an impact on the natural environment. Outdoor education can be a "wild" time when the classroom is an open field and the students have an opportunity to imitate the actions of predator and prey. Increasingly teachers and their classes are taking advantage of the facilities offered at the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre north of Minden. To demonstrate the potential for learning experiences at the centre, several groups of teachers spent a number of days recently exploring the grounds and participating in games and activities designed to heighten youngster understanding and appreciation for the out of doors.

The overall tax increase for Haliburton County Council is 7.4 per cent, but the impact of this will vary among the 10 municipalities.

Minden's share of the county budget increases by 8.6 per cent. In Bicroft the increase is 1.5 per cent. The increase will be 3.8 per cent in Cardiff, 6.7 per cent in Dysart et al, 8.2 per cent in Glamorgan, 12.4 per cent in Lutterworth, 0.8 per cent in Monmouth, 8.5 per cent in Sherbourne et al, 4.7 per cent in Snowdon and 8 per cent in Stanhope.

The County budget was approved at last Wednesday's meeting. The County levy accounts for the smallest portion of the overall tax bill. Still to be finalized are the education and municipal budgets.

Little chance of abuse, say bounty officers and the number of pelts sold by trappers in 1988. There were 133 wolf bounties paid by the county and only 68 pelts traded.

Flemming says he has no specific knowledge of any wrong doing just a suspicion that some of the remaining 65 bounties were paid on wolves killed outside Haliburton. He says he in no way meant to imply that all 65 of the bounties were collected illegally. Many of the bounties were probably paid on wolves that were shot or for wolves with pelts were not good enough to sell, says Fleming. He insists his comment was made to reflect the possibility of abuse.

Minden's bounty officer, Brad Bradamore, says there is a thorough identification process followed before a bounty is collected on any wolf. The bounty officer has to know where the wolf was trapped and makes sure the pelt is clearly marked between the eyes to prevent a trapper from collecting more than one bounty for the same wolf. He says most of the time he deals with local trappers whom he knows and trusts and he rigorously questions any bounty claim from someone he doesn't know.

Bradamore does admit that the possibility of abuse exists. "Any system can be abused if someone desires to break the regulations but the system is monitored real close and the bounty officers do the best job they can. The chances of someone abusing the system is very slight," he says.

Dysart's bounty officer, Harold Bannon, says that if he isn't absolutely positive a bounty claim isn't legitimate he will simply refuse to pay. "I know personally all the trappers in Dysart and know where they set their snares," Bannon says trappers must fill out an affidavit before collecting a bounty and calls the trappers he deals with, "as honest as the sun."

Bannon says he's refused to pay bounties for a variety of reasons but never because the wolf had been trapped anywhere but Dysart. He says bounties are only paid to licensed trappers and he doesn't believe, "wolves are coming in crooked."

Haliburton County paid out $6,650 in wolf bounties in 1988.

Halls easily handles Rockcliffe in series opener

The opening game of the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey finals was less than a contest for Halls Insurance as they dumped the Rockcliffe Tavern team 12-6

Larry Sawyer and Dave Hartwick each pumped in four goals for Halls to pave the way to this easy win. Monday's game was the first of the best-of-three series. The second game will be played at the Minden arena tonight.

In addition to the goals from Sawyer and Hartwick, Brian Shaw, Murray Beestone, Ed Gibbons and Brian Noseworthy each added one for Halls.

Rockcliffe goals were scored by Scott Hamilton (2), Tom Haley, Scott Gartshore, Tim George, and Barry Boice.

Amazing response to budget woes

Every once in a while, really great things happen in the Haliburton Highland Guild of Fine Arts, and as President of the Guild, it is my pleasure to report to you a most spectacular occurrence.

As every Guild member knows, last September, letters were sent out explaining a particularly sticky financial problem. We were going to be substantially short of making our fiscal budget, and were desperate for help. I had always been impressed by the strength and community spirit of the guild. But I was, frankly, quite amazed by the response, both monetary and physical, that our plea provoked.

A very special thank you must go to Barbara Joy Peel for organizing the Corporate Family Sponsorship Program. With help from Margit Moraal, Wendy Bateman and Else

Schlebach, she worked extremely hard searching out the special people who would be willing to donate $500 Corporate or $200 Family Sponsorships to our organization.

Those sponsorships, along with a great many private donations of various sizes, managed to accumulate a sum of just under $10,000 in three months time.

The following is a list of $500 Corporate Sponsorships to the H.H.G.F.A.; Dawson, Gray, Dart; Haliburton Lumber & Enterprises Ltd., Peter Curry Holdings Ltd., Curry Motors Ltd., Raymond G. Selbie, Skyslider, Dr. Antony Holliday-Rhodes, Black's Hardware, 552283 Ontario Ltd., Bishop & Rogers Barristers & Solicitors, Bowes & Cocks Ltd. Realtors.

The following is a list of Personal or Family

Sponsorships of $200 or more: Claire & Ken MacLeod, Blair Sand & Gravel, Elstone Motors Ltd., IGA Haliburton Markets Ltd., Dr. R.A. Benoit, Easton's Grocers Ltd., Windsurfinn, Algonquin Graphics, Beth Barry Pottery, Dr. Harry E. Good, Mrs. Ruth Good, Walker's Heating & Cooling Systems, Homestead's Schnitzel House, Rockcliffe Tavern, John Beachli Construction & Enterprises Ltd., J.D. Robinson Construction, Joan M. Irwin.

The following is a list of persons or groups who have donated various sums of money or items: Dr. & Mrs. James Fraser, Isabel & Walter Thomas, Gull River Homecare & Building Centre, North-Steel Ltd., Dollo Bros. Food Market Ltd., Eva Elson, Victorian Rose Creation, L. VanLieshout Real Estate Ltd., The Village Shop, Ann, McLeod, Phyllis Woods, Campbell's Garden Centre, Doris and Thomas Gordon, Eagle Lake Women's Society, Varty Jewellery & Gift Ltd., Homestead Carpet Service, Mountain Construction, Ladies Auxiliary Branch 129 Royal Canadian Legion, Haliburton, Agnes Borthwick, Marie Blair, Max Strang, Ted & Mimi Carson, Janet Grabber, Neil J. Aberle, Lillian Pettit, Gerane Bonyun, Sheila Irvine, Carl Doey, Margaret Rouse, Stanley W. Baker, Christine Lynd, Designer Silks, William Sherman, John Denny.

I would like to extend a most sincere thank you for every donation. We all know the value of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts and the Rails' End Gallery to our community. Your concern is greatly appreciated.

Live and let live attitude takes a lot of patience

by Marion Strebig
Federation of Ontario
Naturalists

I have never thought of the fox who occasionally skirts the ravine and lopes by my office window as a nuisance, nor the coyote I saw last month crossing a field and disappearing into the brush, nor the beaver who sometimes cuts on my land. And the keening howl of wolves last summer in Algonquin Park, even though the sound made my scalp tingle and my adrenalin flow, filled me with elation.

But I do know that these and other animals often arouse quite different feelings when they come into direct conflict with property owners. Sometimes foxes eat chickens, and both coyotes and wolves are accused of attacking livestock, and wolves of depleting deer populations. The beaver's industrious work sometimes floods property, and its appetite for saplings may include carefully nurtured ornamentals.

My own encounters with these animals have sometimes been exasperating. For several springs a beaver dam flooded a section of our road. But eventually the beavers moved on leaving a pond which is gradually filling with sedges and marsh marigolds and steeplebush. In the spring frog song is deafening, and later on birds like the Tree Swallow, the Common Yellowthroat and the Eastern Kingbird nest here.

While I have always tried to adopt a "live and let live" attitude in dealing with animals around my home, a persistent porcupine, who had decided that the open space under my cottage would make a perfect snoozing place, severely tested my adherence to this philosophy.

When he proved impervious to repeated prodding with a long (very long) stick, to shouting and banging together of kitchen pots, and even appeared to enjoy the quantities of mothballs spread under the cottage, I had to resort to sterner measures. I had the open space blocked off with heavy wire which was buried to a depth of a foot and a half in the ground. But porcupines are armoured not only with spines, but also with unflappable complacency. It made repeated attempts to return to its lair, but the wire held and finally even a porcupine gives up.

The "live and let live" approach requires patient ingenuity and a sense of humour. For the most part authority has opted for quicker and more drastic solutions in dealing with so-called "nuisance" animals. Up until 1972 the province paid wolf bounties. When this practice was discontinued, municipalities were still permitted to pay their own bounties under the Municipal Act. After 1980, when wolves and coyotes were declared furbearers and, therefore, came under the protection of The Game and Fish Act, certain municipalities continued illegally to offer bounties for certain animals, mainly wolves, foxes and coyotes.

For a long time the Minister of Natural Resources was content to turn a blind eye to such payments, but on February 17, 1989 things changed. On that date, in a joint memorandum to the clerks of all municipalities in Ontario, the Minister of Municipal Affairs, John Eakins, and the Minister of Natural Resources, Vincent Kerrio, effectively terminated the practice of bounties as of October 31, 1989. In their memorandum they recognize that, especially as habitat continues to disappear, animals and people will come into conflict, and that there will be complaints of property damage or stock losses. However, they stress the ineffectiveness of the bounty system in solving specific problems.

Bounties are not the answer: FON

The Federation of Ontario Naturalists has taken this position for several decades, and was instrumental in the repeal of the provincial wolf bounty in 1972. In the Autumn 1988 issue of our magazine Seasons, writer and biologist R.D. Lawrence advanced strong arguments for the government to enforce the law against bounties. This article was widely circulated to M.P.P.'s and government bureaucrats.

The old bounty system issued a blanket licence to kill certain animals on sight over a wide area, but it has not and cannot solve specific problems. The intent of the ministry is to set up alternative methods of dealing with complaints, such as using the Ministry of Natural Resources predator control officers from district offices and local trappers to deal with specific problem animals. The Ministers' memorandum goes on to say, "It is expected that suitable programs will be in place by October 31, 1989. —Municipalities which continue to have bounty by-laws in effect beyond this time (October 31, 1989) should expect to face the legal consequences."

The provincial government's decision finally to enforce the law against bounties marks their recognition of the fact that times and attitudes are changing. The Minister of Natural Resources, Vincent Kerrio, remarked at the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters that the message he is hearing every day at Queen's Park from all sorts of people is: "Protect our natural environment. Conserve our resources. And every day the call gets louder." Fortunately the government appears to be listening. The wasteful, expensive and inefficient bounty program will soon be history.

Let us hope the passing of the bounty system also marks the passing of an official mindset which has so long governed wildlife management: the imposition of human judgements of good and bad on animals.

Seniors compete in second event of games

A sunny winter Monday, March 6, saw 85 residents of Haliburton County gather early at Deer Lodge for the second event of the Haliburton Senior Winter Games. President Bob Hollobon welcomed the participants who came from all corners of the county - Wilberforce, Gooderham, Kinmount, Gelert, Lochlin, Minden, Carnarvon, West Guilford, Twelve Mile Lake, Boshong Lake, Kushog Lake, Halls Lake, Maple Lake, Eagle Lake, Redstone Lake, Haliburton Lake and Lake Kashagawigamog. Just a great crowd! Deer Lodge provided a welcoming warm fireplace and served muffins with tea or coffee.

Once again, the line dancers gave a demonstration and had many others on their feet to participate. The morning passed quickly with games of bingo, euchre, bridge, cribbage and table shuffleboard, ending with the popular "Deer Races". At 12:30 a delicious roast beef dinner was served.

The serious competition began in the afternoon with tournaments in bridge, euchre and table shuffleboard. The first place winners in bridge were Mike Collins and Nick Lehoczy followed by Audrey Deremo and Gladys Fajar in second and Lenore and Hadden Gillespie in third. Lillian Davidson won the prize for most lone hands. Eleanor Pye and Jack Chilton placed first in euchre followed by Dorothy and Harold Bebbington in second place and Jean Hollobon and Maggie Kylie in third place.

Winners in shuffleboard were Marion Reid and Norma Hodgson.

As the day came to an successful conclusion, social convenor Shirley Hodgson presented the medals and certificates to the winners compliments of Deer Lodge. Door prize winners were Billy Pickard and Elsie Bursey. A vote of thanks was extended to the Teljeur family and staff of Deer Lodge for their hospitality. Anyone wishing copies of pictures taken at the Winter Games may order them at the Haliburton County Home Support Services Drop-In Centre, where they are displayed.

The success of the Winter Games has been due to the enthusiasm of the participants. The Haliburton Senior Games Community Committee are now preparing for the Summer Games which will take place the end of May and all of June. Hopefully, there will be some competition with Muskoka, who, with Haliburton, form District 11 of the Ontario Senior Games. These games are supported by local services clubs, municipalities and the Older Adult Centres Association of Ontario, the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation and New Horizons Health and Welfare Canada.

The Summer Games will be opened at a Dinner Meeting of Haliburton County Home Support Services on Friday, April 21, 1989. For more information and to make reservations please contact Home Support Services at 457-2941. Last year saw approximately 250 individuals participating in 12 events in Haliburton County. The future for this year's Games looks even better and we would like to welcome all older adults in Haliburton County to get involved. For more information please contact Katherine at 457-2171.

Seniors enjoy readings from Anne of Green Gables

Last Thursday the Minden Curling Ladies served us with a delicious tea which we enjoyed very much. Doris is reading "Anne of Green Gables" to us in our hour of reading. Most of us have read them before, but we are enjoying them again. The Auxiliary Ladies had a card party in the auditorium Thursday night and the residents were welcome to attend. A lovely lunch was served following the cards. After fun and fitness Friday, anyone who wished, went for a short outing on the bus. It was a beautiful day for a drive. Mrs. Coleman had bible study for us at 1 o'clock and Pastor Fast showed us nearly 300 slides of two visits he had taken in Israel. They were very interesting and made you realize more clearly what the country is like now and what it was before.

The Girl Guides from Carnarvon came and put on a program for our entertainment. We appreciated this very much.

Congratulations to Angus Coulter on his 91st birthday March 10, 1989.

My sister and her husband May and Roy Cameron, their daughter Jacqueline and her granddaughter Melissa from Peterborough came to see me and took me out to dinner Saturday.

Ina McGuire is back from Civic Hospital in Peterborough. She had thought she would need an operation but it very glad she did not.

Mr. Burgess took the chapel service Sunday night and he reported his wife Mary Burgess is improving in Lindsay hospital.

Monday morning Terry and Norma came for me. We went to Lindsay and had lunch then to Peterborough to my sister's for dinner. Terry and Norma had dinner with Norma's mother.

There were movies in the auditorium Monday night and afterwards the Highland Dancers entertained us with music and dancing.

Pastor Fast took Tuesday morning chapel service.

Congratulations to Nancy Walker on the birth of a son March 14, 1989.

Monday afternoon we went for a bus ride to see where deer feed during the winter. We did not see any deer but enjoyed the outing.

We welcome Sylvia and Dick as new volunteers for Hyland Crest. Alice Todd went to Richmond Hill with Jim, Barb and boys where they had a nice time visiting Alice's son Harold, Fran and family.

Rev. Murray had service in the main lounge Wednesday evening.

Pearl Lyle had Mervin Brohm to visit her Tuesday evening.

Things are cooking with new stove

The Rotary Club of Minden has been active over the past few months, making a number of important contributions to our community and assisting with planning for the future.

Seeing a need for improved cooking facilities at the Minden Community Centre, the Rotary Club has purchased a new stove for the centre's kitchen. Designed for commercial use, the new stove will provide all users of the kitchen with a more efficient and versatile facility for meal preparation.

The Rotary Club has also made a number of other donations to the community centre. The hall is now equipped with a television and VCR. Groups renting the room may have access to this equipment to show tapes to augment speeches or for entertainment.

Two new "Smoke Eaters" have also been installed in the community centre. These two will help the two installed by the Rotary Club a number of years ago, make the room as smoke-free and as pleasant as possible when large groups use the hall.

Free bus

Students from the Minden area attending dances at the High School usually on a Friday evening, have often found it difficult to get to Haliburton in the evening due to a lack of transportation. The Rotary Club believes it has found a solution to this problem. Each time there is a dance at the High School, the Rotary Club will sponsor a bus which leaves from the IGA parking lot, usually around 9 p.m. and returns shortly after midnight. There is a nominal charge for the passengers, 1 per trip, with the club guaranteeing the bus rental and driver's expenses. Not only does this service provide transportation for students who might not be able to attend this extra-curricular activity, but it provides an alternate method of travel for the students. (Parents, who more often than not, serve as chauffeurs, will also appreciate the convenience of this new service.) Details of the bus schedule are announced at the school the week of the dance.

Hospital equipment

We are all familiar with the dramatic scene on television medical shows where the doctors attempt to resuscitate a patient using an electric charge. The Rotary Club of Minden has recently purchased a new defibrillator for the Minden hospital. This replaces an existing unit which, though serviceable, was fairly old. The defibrillator, which has been removed from the hospital, will be installed in one of the area ambulances and used by emergency personnel in the field.

The Rotary Club of Minden has also established a trust fund on behalf of the community for the construction of a new hospital. This is not a fund-raising drive, but rather a mechanism by which individuals wishing to make a donation now for the construction of a new hospital at some future date, can do so. Funds assigned to this effort will be held in trust until such time as plans for the construction of a new hospital are announced. At that time, the money in the fund will be released to the fund raising committee. Maintenance of this hospital trust fund is being overseen by four members of the Rotary Club and three members of the community. For more information about the fund, contact the Rotary Club of Minden, Box 504, Minden.

Still with health care, the Rotary Club has accepted the responsibility for organizing the next public meeting on health care facilities in our community. Ken Walsh and his group were responsible for the first two meetings and he has asked the Rotary Club to carry the ball from here. Working in co-operation with the ad-hoc committee on hospital services in Minden, President Dr. Peter Bennett has indicated the club will endeavour to keep the community involved in the examination of the health care needs in our community.

Roll call is answered with a bit of the Irish at Institute meeting

Jeanne Sears, P.R.O.

The Roll Call at the March 15 meeting of Minden Women's Institute was answered by 16 members.

They had a bit of the 'Irish' as they named places in Ontario of Irish origin or paid the fine. Mrs. C. Lacey, our president, welcomed us.

The usual reports were given then Mrs. W. Moore reported sending 22 cards since last meeting. After this she gave a full yearly report of 217 cards sent during the past year for weddings, anniversaries, get-well, baby cards or in sympathy. All then joined in their appreciation in the usual way.

Pennies for Friendship and collections for Card fund were taken and some members added money to the Birthday Box. The bus trip to Kingston and a boat cruise is planned for June 14 with Annie Kernohan in charge.

Mrs. D. Berry, convenor, then gave a paper on the history of hand-soap, it's origin and she showed us samples during the processing of a cake of soap. Various comments and a discussion were made by the members as some, that had made soap during the last war. There were some amusing readings by Mrs. Sears and Mrs. Coulter. After the adjournment all enjoyed the delicious snack and cup of tea.

Next meeting is April 19th at the Common Room with special speaker Health Nurse, Margaret Graham, with all ladies welcome.

Ministry offers incentive for renters to buy their own homes

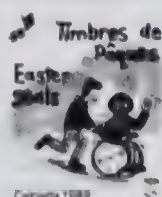

Vacate-Create is an incentive grant designed by the Ministry of Housing to encourage first time home buyers who are now renting, to purchase a home for their principal residence and create a rental unit within it. The newly created rental unit would be constructed with assistance from the Ministry of Housing's Convert to Rent program. Approved applicants would receive a $3000 Vacate-Create grant upon the completion of the Convert-to-Rent project. Convert-to-Rent will also provide a $7000 interest free loan toward the creation of an apartment within the participant's home. Repayment of the $7000 interest free loan begins ten years after completion of the project. Approval for the Vacate-Create grant is conditional upon the applicant completing a Convert-to-Rent project within the applicant's newly purchased principal residence.

For further information contact your nearest Ministry of Housing Regional Programs Office at 1-800-668-0208.

If you have a question or need help completing an application, contact your nearest Information Centre. The Haliburton Office is located in the Drag River Municipal Building, Maple Ave., open Monday - Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733. For the residents of Minden area, the centre is located in the Municipal Building, Milne Street, open every Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 286-4100.

POLICE TACTICAL UNITS INQUIRY NOTICE

The Ontario Police Commission was directed by the Solicitor General on January 4, 1989 to examine the use of police tactical units in Ontario.

The Commission was asked to examine and make recommendations on the following:

1. the historical operation and utilization of such units, since their inception, by police forces in Ontario;
2. the selection and training of the personnel comprising such units;
3. the equipment used by such units, including weapons and communications equipment;
4. the functions assigned to such units;
5. the rationale and need for such units.

The Commission will review oral and written submissions related to its mandate.

Written submissions from members of the public are now invited. They should be forwarded to the Ontario Police Commission, 9th Floor, 25 Grosvenor Street, Toronto, M7A 2H3, by Friday, April 21, 1989.

The Commission is currently arranging a series of public hearings at which interested citizens and organizations will have the opportunity to personally state their views. Those citizens and groups who submit written briefs will have an opportunity, if desired, to expand on their submissions at these hearings.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Gordon Hampson or Cathy Boxer at the Commission offices in Toronto (416) 965-6071.

Skid school driving tips

The Ministry of Transportation in its Winter newsletter gives credit to the Petro Canada Skid Control School for the following driving tips we should observe during icy road conditions.

1. Your hands should always be in the nine and three o'clock position and when you make a lane change the wheel should only move slightly. This will give you more control and faster reaction time.

2. You are told to keep your foot OFF the brake. In order for steering to work effectively you must not brake at the same time that you are turning the wheel.

3. Keep your eyes on an object in the horizon to keep the car in line. Your car will go where you are looking. If you are looking at the ditch, that is where you will end up. If you focus on an object at a distance that is directly in the centre of your lane and steer toward it, your body will line up with the object and your car will do likewise. Remember you are using your peripheral vision, do not block out everything else when you are focusing on the horizon.

Hands, feet, eyes and horizon. It seems like a lot to remember but it does all come together.

HAPPY EASTER

The Minden Novice C Monarchs played host to Fenelon Falls last Tuesday. Although they were shorthanded, Fenelon skated all over Minden in this game, taking home a 4-0 win. Minden, however, came back in the next game to defeat Fenelon and win the playoff series. The team now goes on to face Haliburton in the next round.

Busy as birds

season would appear to be downright hostile.

In fact, upon closer examination, our early nesting Ravens and Gray Jays can be seen to be maximizing their production of surviving young. Ravens feed on carcasses, which are very likely, most abundant at the end of winter, and certainly much easier to find before the leaves come out. Gray Jays survive the winter on food hidden away the summer before and, for them, early nesting is probably a way of maximizing those crucial winter food stores. Not only can they store more food in a summer by getting nesting over with early but also, the young birds, by being produced earlier, will have more time to store food and contribute to their own survival the following winter.

Either way, the early nesting of these two birds is a highlight of the winter season in Algonquin Park and one of the most remarkable feats anywhere in the natural world.

BIRTHS

COX: Chad Victor

I arrived on Tuesday, March 14, 1989 at 7:55 p.m. weighing in at 5 lbs., 14 oz. I'm staying at Peterborough Civic Hospital for a few days, then I will bring my parents home, Lisa and Casey. They are both doing fine.

I told my new dad I can't help with the spring planting but to get my pitch fork ready for the fall haying.

Being born is great. I have grandparents already, Joe and Freda Cox and Brian and Carol Dunham of Minden. Mel and Doris Foster of Minden agreed to be my great grandparents along with Jean Rattray of Hamilton, Ontario. My new mom tells me I will even have my own room. Many thanks to Dr. Hartwick, Dr. Sheppard and staff on the Maternity Ward at Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Bye for now,

Chad Victor Cox

It's A Boy

HOLMES: Doug and Carol are overjoyed to announce the birth of their son

DILLON JOHNATHON at 3:40 p.m. in Peterborough Civic Hospital on March 6, 1989 weighing 8 lbs. Proud grandparents are John and Frieda Bosma of Orangeville and Robert and Jo Holmes of Peterborough. Special thanks to Dr. Dawson and the nurses of his clinic, Pat Ferguson of Minden Hospital and Dr. Sheppard and staff at Peterborough Civic Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

CURRAH: In loving memory of a wonderful husband and father, Alvin, who passed away March 22, 1978.

One whom God called home
To suffer no more
On earth - you were loved
In heaven - you rest.

Sadly missed by his wife Mary, son Jackie and Charlotte and grandchildren Jason, Leanne and Eileen; son Rennie and Joanne and grandson Blair.

STEELE: In loving memory of Gene Shawn Patrick Steele who passed away March 25, 1985.

Our thoughts go back to you,
As they often do,
And we treasure the memories
We have of you.
We miss you so many ways
And things you used to say
And when we talk over old times
We realize that you are gone away.

As you were, for us, and will always be Forever, treasured in our memory.

Our dear Gene, loved by mom, dad, sisters, brothers, family and friends.
